The ESSENTIALSERIES, from Intraline, is a line of biphasic dermal fillers manufactured with over 30 years of Swedish research.

Produced through a proprietary bacterial fermentation process and never animal-derived, Intraline's Hyaluronic Acid is both effective and environmentally responsible. Following years of Swedish research, Intraline's Dermal Fillers utilize our innovative spherification technology, which smoothes HA's traditionally angular rhomboid molecular structure.

This formulation technique provides Intraline's fillers with some of the highest molecular densities of any product on the market today, leading to smoother, more natural results.

Intraline's Polydioxanone
(PDO) threads are CE
marked with an excellent safety profile and virtually non-allergenic. PDO suture use has nearly 40 years of medical history supporting its use.

REJUVENATION

PDO THREADS:

Rejuvenation PDO Thread treatments take advantage of the regenerative changes that take place in the dermis and subcutis from the expert insertion of PDO Threads using specific techniques. Multiple modes of action including Neo-collagenesis (the body's production of fresh collagen) from a foreign body reaction, micro-circulation stimulation, increased metabolism, lipolysis, muscle relaxation, and increased tissue adhesion, result in skin tightening (by thickening and hydrating the skin).

Rejuvenation PDO Threads are used when the main goal is to improve skin quality rather than lifting, but strategically inserted they will provide a small amount of lift via skin tightening as well as facial contouring.

DIMENSION 360

Single thread where barbs have been cut in a helical pattern.

DIMENSION 720

Single thread where the barbs have been molded rather than cut. The barbs are an opposing sides of each other.

NOSE THREADS

Single thread with the portion that is outside the cannula has a singular row of barbs that have been cut running the length of the thread, the portion inside the cannula is smooth.

LIFTING PDO THREADS:

Lifting threads have barbs, also known as Cogs along the length of the thread with the aim of affixing the skin in a position to give the appearance of a minor facelift. Typically, depth of placement for a Cog PDO Thread is the subcutaneous tissue and the effect is twofold with an immediate lift due to the barbs being activated and hooking into the underside of the skin and long-lasting effect due to the gradual metabolism of the thread which leads to skin rejuvenation.

The amount of lift provided from a Cog PDO Thread treatment is typically only a few centimeters and results are not permanent. There are many types and sizes of Cog PDO Threads but Intraline focuses on the most effectively used types for classic multiple point lifting and non-surgical rhinoplasty.
